

Economics Bulletin

Guidelines for Referees

Editorial Standards

The Economics Bulletin is an open access, peer-reviewed, letters journal that publishes Notes, Comments and Preliminary Results in all areas of economics. Submissions are restricted to seven printed pages exclusive of references, appendices, tables, and figures.

One of our central missions is to foster free and extremely rapid scientific communication across the entire community of research economists. As such, we make every attempt to make decisions within six to eight weeks and publish accepted papers immediately. Thus, we would appreciate it if you could provide your review within 30 days. In hopes of making this more feasible, we ask only that you make an up or down recommendation and provide a short paragraph or two explaining the reasons for your recommendation. In general, our standard for publication is that papers be original, correct, and of interest to a specialist in the field.

Please click on the link provided in the email you received requesting your help and choose “Accept/Decline invitation”. You will be taken to an interface that allows you to accept, decline, or propose a new deadline to provide a report. If you find you must decline, we would be very grateful if you could suggest alternative reviewers. If you prefer, you can contact the associate editor directly via email instead.

To submit your report, click on the same link provided in the invitation email, but choose the “Upload report” option. You will be taken to an interface that allows you to upload a PDF of your review. If you wish, you can also upload a cover letter to the editor in charge of the manuscript with your candid comments. This will not be forwarded to the author.

If you lose your invitation email, click here. You will be asked to supply the paper number, your user name (email address) and password. If you have forgotten your password, you can request it at the login screen. Please use the same email address the associate editor used to contact you. Otherwise, the system will not recognize you.

Thank you very much for your help. We sincerely appreciate it.
