Announcement and Call for Papers PET 2007 Nashville, Tennessee– July 6-8 2007 The Association for Public Economic Theory (APET) is pleased to announce that it will hold its eighth international meeting at the Vanderbilt University from July 6 to July 8, 2007. The main purposes of the Association for Public Economic Theory (APET), the association of the Journal of Public Economic Theory, are to promote public economic theory generally and to foster interaction between theorists, applied and empirical researchers in public economics and related fields. The organizers will therefore welcome papers in all areas of economic theory and of public economics (broadly defined). More information will appear on the conference web site: www.APET.org as it becomes available, including submission procedures and information about local accommodation. A number of special sessions will be organized. If you would like to propose a session, please contact John Conley at j.p.conley@vanderbilt.edu. Organizing Committee Co-chairs John Conley and Myrna Wooders Vanderbilt University
