The CICSE (Centro Interuniversitario Crescita & Sviluppo Economico, <http://cicse.ec.unipi.it/>) announces that the third “CICSE Lectures on Growth and Development”, in collaboration with the Department of Economics, University Frederick II in Naples, will be delivered by Prof. David de la Croix, Professor of Economics, Université catholique de Louvain, Place Montesquieu 3, B-1348 Louvain-la-Neuve, Belgium, <http://perso.uclouvain.be/david.delacroix>. The CICSE Lectures are planned to provide invited scholars with the opportunity to recollect and reorganize their ideas, to present them in a more general format, to provide proofs of special cases or some empirical studies that in short presentations like that of an article of a journal cannot be exhaustively treated, and to provide deeper analyses of some points. Once delivered a set of Lectures are collected in a book published by Cambridge University Press in the ‘CICSE Lectures on Growth and Development’ Series. The first set of Lectures were delivered by Professor Stephen J. Turnovsky on ‘Capital Accumulation and Economic Growth in a Small Open Economy’; the book is currently available both in hardback and in paperback. The second set of Lectures were delivered by Oded Galor on ‘Inequality and the Process of Development’ and the book is under revision. The three Lectures by Professor de la Croix are on ‘Fertility, Education, Growth, and Sustainability’. More precisely they are on: Lecture 1 (April 27) – Differential Fertility and the Dynamics of Inequality; Lecture 2 (April 28) – Education Policy; Lecture 3 (April 29) – Sustainability. All interested scholars are free to attend the CICSE Lectures at Palazzo Ricca, Via dei Tribunali 213, Naples, Italy, but they need to be registered within April 5, 2011. Registration is possible through the page: http://cicse.ec.unipi.it/content/fertility\_education\_growth\_and\_sustainability.html where further information on the Lectures can be found. The afternoon of April 28 will be devoted to a Poster Session with the David de la Croix's participation. The deadline for delivering a poster is March 10, 2011. The application requires an abstract sent to cicse-lecture@ec.unipi.it.
