

Volume 32, Issue 4

Conference Announcement

Tournaments, Contests and Relative Performance Evaluation

Location : Fresno Center of the University of California, Merced, in Fresno, California, USA

Organizers : Charles Knoeber, Dan Kovenock, Stergios Skaperdas and Theofanis Tsoulouhas

Major Topics : Tournaments, Contests, Relative Performance Evaluation

Conference Dates : 3/15/2013 to 3/15/2013

Submission Deadline : 2012-12-31 00:00:00

Send Submissions To : <http://contesttheory.org/tc&rpe2013>

Sponsoring Organizations :

For further information contact : Theofanis Tsoulouhas, University of California, Merced, ftsoulouhas@ucmerced.edu

Web Page :

Call for Papers The University of California, Merced, is organizing a conference on "Tournaments, Contests and Relative Performance Evaluation" which is scheduled to take place at the Fresno Center of the University of California, Merced, in Fresno, California, USA, on March 15-17, 2013. The objective of this conference is to encourage and disseminate new research on tournaments, contests and relative performance evaluation, and to foster interaction between theorists and applied researchers in this area. Submissions of research papers on the specific topic of tournaments and contests are solicited to be presented at this conference. The submission deadline is December 31, 2012. Submissions can be made at the conference website which can be found at ContestTheory.org. Registration is open, in that presentation of a paper is not a prerequisite. We anticipate having the preliminary program posted by January 31. The keynote speakers are Dan Kovenock, who is the Rebecca and William Dunn Distinguished Professor at the Economic Science Institute of Chapman University, and John Morgan, who is the Gary and Sherron Kalbach Professor of Business Administration at the Haas School of Business, University of California, Berkeley. In addition to submitting a paper and registering for the conference, make sure you also join the Tournament Theory web directory and the email list which can be found at TournamentTheory.org If you would like to organize a session, please contact Fanis Tsoulouhas at ftsoulouhas@ucmerced.edu. Please share this announcement with colleagues who might be interested. We look forward to seeing you in Fresno. Charles Knoeber, Dan Kovenock, Stergios Skaperdas and Theofanis Tsoulouhas Conference Organizers