The international meeting of the Economic Science Association (ESA) will be held June 19-22, 2003 in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania USA. ESA is an organization of researchers interested in economics as an observational science, using laboratory or field experiments to learn about economic behavior. This year's conference is being hosted by the Department of Economics at the University of Pittsburgh. The plenary speakers are Vincent P. Crawford (University of California, San Diego), Jack Ochs (University of Pittsburgh), Larry Samuelson (University of Wisconsin, Madison) and Nobel Laureate Vernon L. Smith (George Mason University). The deadline for the submission of papers for the conference program is March 31, 2003. Paper submissions (in pdf files only) should be emailed to: esa@pitt.edu Paper presenters may be asked to serve as discussants and/or chairpersons of program sessions. Further details about the conference, including registration fees, travel and hotel accommodations are available at: <http://www.peel.pitt.edu/esa2003> A link to the conference page can also be found on the ESA website, <http://www.economicsscience.org>
